

Availability

Customizable postings of securities available for loan

BondLend's Availability service allows a lender to post available US and non-US inventory to their client base.

Availability can be broadcast to a designated list of BondLend counterparties multiple times per day. Lenders can choose to include quantities, prices, rates, and fees.

How Availability Works

Lenders post their available securities to their selected counterparties

A list of available securities indicates what a lender can potentially loan

Borrower searches by security across multiple counterparties, or by all securities within a counterparty

Availability can be transmitted via messaging or through browser upload
